THE LEGEND OF GREAT UNCLE ASHER

Construction on the historic Beach Club Residences began in 1928, but the Great Depression delayed its opening until 1946.

My Great-Uncle Asher was the cement contractor and never got paid after the original owner went bankrupt. Family legend says he responded by dumping cement into the elevator shafts he had poured.

That story stuck with me. It's about grit, standing your ground, and getting the last laugh. Naming the restaurant Asher's felt right. I even named my son after him. Here's to generations of Minnesotans celebrating together and doing things their own way.
